Confidentiality Agreement for the supply of Wine

I refer to our previous correspondence.

You have requested us to supply you with wine and information relating to the wine producer and the type of wine we are supplying to you. Our wine suppliers have requested that if we supply their wines to you (the 'Purpose') that we must ensure that the name of the winery and the details regarding the wine must be kept confidential (the 'Information').

To ensure that we comply with our arrangement with the supplier, we ask that you sign this letter - which is in the form of a Confidentiality Agreement - before we make the Information available to you. Please read this agreement carefully, sign the authorisation at the end, and return the original to us. We enclose a copy of the agreement for you to retain on your files.

We wish to disclose the information to you to enable you to make an informed decision when purchasing the wines.

We require you and your employees to refrain from disclosing the information to anyone else and you agree to do so.

If you reveal the information to a third party, we may seek an injunction to minimise the damage or loss to us as a result of the breach.

If the negotiations between us do not result in you purchasing any wines you must either return to us or destroy (at our option) the Information and any documents or material relating to it which you obtained or created.

If you disclose the Information, the disclosure may cause us and the winery loss. Damages may be inadequate to compensate us for any loss resulting from a breach of confidentiality, and we may seek other legal or equitable remedies.

If you have any queries, please contact me. I would appreciate it if you could return the signed original to me by way of fax or mail within 7 days.

Yours sincerely

Richard Butterworth
